Consultation Hours from 9.30 to 12 A. M., and from 2 to 8 P. M. Fee for consultation, including examination, etc., $1.

Patients who may be too sick to call on the Doctor, during his stay in the city, can be visited at their residences by making special arrangements to that effect.

Chronic Nervous Diseases, Lost Vigor, Premature Decline, Diseases of the Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, Dropsical Affections, Diseases of the Stomach and Digestive Organs, Diseases of the Lungs. Cancers and Tumors removed without the use of the knife or plasters.

Dr. Hardy makes no mistakes. His treatment of disease is rational and positive, and he particularly invites those who have been unsuccessfully treated by others, or given up.

Success in Every Case Undertaken.

Dr. Hardy's reputation for the successful treatment of the above diseases is well known. He is the founder and head Physician of one of the most complete Medical Institutes or Home for Invalids in New England, located at 75 Chester Sq., Boston. It is in fact the only one of its kind east of N. Y. City. Do not confound the Doctor with Medical Travellers or Lecturers with whom he has no connection. He is permanently located in Boston, and may be found usually at his home office, 75 Chester Sq., Boston.

"There are a few Physicians who, eminent in their specialty, are acknowledged by their medical confreres as authorities on what they claim. Such a one is Dr. Hardy, of 75 Chester Sq., whose success in the treatment of disease has been almost phenomenal. We are personally acquainted with the Doctor; he is doing a good work among the sick. We cannot urge too strongly the importance of invalids consulting him."—Boston Traveller.

"One of the most successful Physicians in this city in the treatment of chronic diseases, is Dr. Hardy, of 75 Chester Sq. The Doctor's patients are numerous, and many of our best citizens have availed themselves of his treatment. By his skill and ability to cope with disease, he is deserving of the confidence which is reposed in him. He seems to have the faculty of knowing just what to do."—Boston Journal.

"Dr. Hardy's method of treating disease has received the endorsement of the most advanced medical men in the old world and elsewhere. He has hosts of patients. His office and Institution is at 75 Chester Sq."—Boston Globe.

"Dr. Hardy knowing the wonderful complexity of the human system and studying its research lies in special studies, has discovered and proven things not known before. The methods and the remedial agents he employs are not commonly used in this country. His success in the treatment of the sick is wonderful."—N. Y. Scientific Times.

AN INTERESTING STORY.

THAT BROWN POWDER AGAIN.

WEBB'S MILLS, ME., Dec. 21, 1883.

To the CRAIG KIDNEY CURE CO.

On the 16th of November, 1882, I was taken ill. About the middle of December I began to bloat. My father was going to Boston, so took me with him. We consulted a physician there, and he pronounced it a case of Bright's Disease. He prescribed for me, and after a while we returned home. However, about the 1st of January, 1883, I, being bloated very bad, was confined to my bed. My kidneys were inactive, and I vomited almost constantly. In spite of the best medical aid, I grew rapidly worse. I suffered so much they were obliged to inject medicine into my arm. I then began taking Warner's Cure, and in a short time I could retain both medicine and food on my stomach, but it would not stop my bloating. I was tapped seven times while taking Warner's medicine, and an average of five quarts of water was taken from my bowels each time. My legs were also tapped several times. I have taken about seventy five bottles of Warner's medicine. But in the meanwhile my uncle in Lowell, Mass., wrote us that one of Warner's agents told him that they had a powder that they used sometimes in severe cases. We wrote to Warner to get it, but he wrote us that he knew nothing of any such powder.

My father being in Boston saw your advertisement, and on stepping into your office learned that the Craig Kidney Cure Company is compounding the genuine Dr. Craig's Kidney Cure containing powder. For the past two and a half months I have been taking Dr. Craig's Kidney Cure, with good results. The bloat is being steadily reduced, and my general health is gradually improving. I would advise all suffering from kidney troubles to take Dr. Craig's Kidney Cure. Very truly yours, R. M. SKILLING.

The above statement of my son is true.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Lewis Jore, of Lewiston, a bootblack, says the Journal, has made, and is worth, $2,500. He put away $673 last year by hard work.

The Lewiston City Council abolished, Tuesday evening, the five per cent. discount on all taxes paid within thirty days. After sixty days, six per cent. interest is charged.

James Curtis, of Auburn, was found hanging by a trace chain from a ladder in his barn, last week. He went to the barn after dinner, but was supposed to be about his work till the body was discovered. He was a farmer, and about seventy-five years of age.

Aroostook.

The Aroostook cattle show and fair will be held at Houlton on Thursday, Sept. 18th.

The Aroostook county Sunday school convention will be held at the Congregational church in Houlton, on Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8 and 9.

E. S. F. Nickerson, Esq., has bought the Washburn farm in Houlton, for $4,000, and Noah Chandler has bought B. J. Stevens' residence, for $3,000.

The Republican says that as the train was about three miles from Caribou, the other day, the engineer saw a child sitting on the rail. The train could not be stopped, and as it struck the child, it was thrown some distance, but not seriously hurt. It belonged to Robt. Porter, and is only three years old.

Cumberland.

The hearing on the motion for a temporary injunction in the case of J. Winslow Jones against petitions for insolvency, was argued before Judge Virgin, Thursday, by Mr. Hadlock for Jones. The court reserved its decision.

A man named Leighton, from Stark, N. H., who arrived in Portland, Thursday, was arrested for the larceny of a watch and chain in that town. He confessed and handed the watch to Capt. Black.

As Mrs. Phillip H. Brown, with her two daughters, were riding into Portland, from Glen Cove, the horses took fright at the donkey engine on the Portland bridge, and ran into a pile of lumber, upsetting the carriage. One of the daughters was thrown some distance, but Mrs. Brown and the other daughter were thrown under the carriage. Fortunately the driver fell on his feet and keeping firm hold of the reins prevented the horses from running. The party all escaped with slight bruises.

Thursday morning, Arthur, a little five year old son of Mr. Martin Cary, of Portland, while fishing in the first slaked way of the Marginal way, fell into the water, and before he could be rescued by persons in that vicinity, was drowned. The body was recovered by parties in a boat, who were within call. When the body was recovered it was found that the fishing line was tied in a buttonhole, and it is conjectured that the sudden jerk of a fish at the hook caused the boy to lose his balance and fall into the water. Coroner Hall deemed an inquest unnecessary.

Franklin.

The Chronicle is informed that a Salem, Mass., firm, thinks of locating their shoe manufacturing business there, if suitable inducements are offered.

The work of grading the Franklin & Megantic Railroad is progressing as rapidly as its most zealous supporters ever anticipated. About one hundred and fifty men, mostly Italians, arrived from Bangor last week, and there is now a large force on the line. The crew are now at work in Salem, and will push on towards Kingfield at a good rate.

The box factory of Russell Bros., Estes & Co., at Farmington, is fast approaching completion. The exterior of both the main building and engine house is finished and now the shafting and machinery is being put in. They have put in a track from the railroad to the factory, and are erecting lumber sheds, tenement houses, etc. The firm have bought out Richmond & Thompson, and all the business carried on by them is to be massed there.

Hancock.

The fishing schooner Augusta E. Herrick, of Swan's Island, arrived at Mulgrave, N. S., June 24, with 250 barrels of large mackerel, which were taken June 23d, in Chedabucto Bay. She reports the fleet doing well.

The boarding house connected with the E. M. C. Seminary, at Bucksport, will be open from July 10 to August 20 for summer boarders. The Berlitz School of Modern Languages, of Boston, is forming classes for a summer course and has engaged rooms and board at this place.

On July 1, 1884, a flashing white light of the fifth order, flashing at intervals of 10 seconds, elevated 30 feet above low water, and visible for 13 miles all around the horizon, was exhibited from a white tower standing on a red pier, and surmounted by a black lantern, recently constructed at Latimer's reef, east end of Fisher's Island Sound. A fog bell, struck by machinery, giving one blow every fifteen seconds, will be sounded during thick or foggy weather.

The United States coast and geodetic survey reports that a survey recently made by the steamer Gedney, has developed a dangerous ledge near the eastern entrance of Moose-a-bec Reach, in Englishman's Bay, on the coast of Maine. This ledge has a least depth of 4 feet over it, and lies ENE ¾ East from Libby Island Light, and distant 6¾ miles on the following bearings: Gilchrist's spindle, NW ¾ N; Southeast end Head Harbor Island, SSW ⅝. Vessels entering Englishman's Bay may avoid this ledge by keeping to the eastern end of Mark Island, or bearing to the westward of NNW ½ W.

Accidents seem to befall the good people of Oakland. On Monday morning, Mr. Anson O. Austin fell from a staging on his new house and fractured his collar bone, hurt his spine, and otherwise seriously injured himself. In the afternoon, Mrs. Polly Allen, the aged mother of Geo. F. Allen, Esq., fell down stairs and broke her hip; her great age, ninety years, renders such an accident a very serious matter.

The Augusta market for lumber has been about up to the average the present season, although it is expected that the demand will ease off in the future, there being but a small amount of building in that section. The New York market is brisk, however, and lumber firms are able to dispose of their product readily. Sturgis, Lambard & Co. are operating the shingle machine at their upper mill, and will continue sawing shingles through the summer.

Thursday evening Rev. Dr. Robins gave a class supper at his residence in this city, to the class of '59, Colby University, of which he was a member. The class numbered eighteen members, but the hand of time has wrought marked changes. Nine are known to be living. The whereabouts of one is not known, and eight are dead. Seven were present at the supper that evening, viz: Rev. Dr. S. L. Caldwell, president of Vassar college, Rev. Dr. A. H. Granger, pastor of a church at Burrillville, Rhode Island, A. H. Briggs, Esq., a lawyer practicing in Boston, Rev. E. G. Wright, Hartford, N. Y., Rev. Mr. Merriam, Colerain, Mass., Rev. N. T. Fay, Prairie Depot, O., Rev. Joseph Ricker, Augusta.

Unhappy Democrats

bringing this issue squarely before the country, and [illegible] committing the party thoroughly to tariff reform. It is an issue the party cannot afford to dodge and will [illegible] the one prominently before the country. There can be no doubt of the action of the convention, and if it is done after a struggle, it will be the surer to place the party on record in the matter. The Committee on Resolutions will be made up with a majority of tariff reformers on it. The only States that will appoint Protectionists will be Rhode Island, Vermont, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia, Ohio, and possibly New Jersey; [illegible] the convention our side will have a clear majority. Of the 200 Democratic congressmen 160 voted for the Morrison bill, and it can be surely claimed that all of the delegates representing their districts will support a tariff reform plank. The Western and most of the Southern delegates are tariff reformers, and even from Ohio there will be from 16 to 20 votes to support the majority report. There will be, as I said, a fight, but it can only result one way. If it were otherwise it would be a victory for principles that are in direct opposition to those of the Democratic party."

"Will such an open and pronounced platform win?" "Win, of course it will win [illegible]

It is the only cause that can win. It has been claimed that the Democratic party has no principles and only wants offices. I do not allow that, but I do say that if we abandon principles now we can never hope to get office. Neither would we deserve them. They say that the revenue plank of 1880 defeated Hancock. I say that deserting that plank and apologizing for it after it was put in the platform was what defeated Hancock. Put the plank in, and stand by it, do not try to explain it away, but stand up and say it is the only right thing and we will carry the country."

Mr. Watterson frankly said: "I have come here to help the friends of tariff reform. Yes, I have heard that some efforts are making to keep me off the Committee on Resolutions, but they will not succeed. The Kentucky delegation will have this a[illegible] about that. Although I was not a delegate to our State Convention I was made chairman of the Committee on Resolutions [illegible] the tariff resolution [illegible] was unanimously adopted. I was chosen a delegate-at-large by virtually a unanimous vote, and [illegible] will agree to [illegible] We propose to renew the fight began [illegible] Washington, and to have a [illegible] platform. [illegible] arrangements are making to have him take the place of [illegible] the Pennsylvania delegates in the convention with a view to making him a member of the Committee on Resolutions. If this plan is carried out there will be some fun in the committee or I shall be greatly mistaken."

Colonel Morrison came up from Peoria last night and when he appeared at the Palmer House this morning he formed the [illegible] group of [illegible] friends. [illegible] Carter Harrison [illegible] has got to run for Governor [illegible] a tariff reform platform. I did not write the [illegible] myself. If I had done so I should have left out the [illegible] [illegible] I am not here to run more for a place on the ticket. I don't say that I would not like to be Vice President, but I regard it as out of the question. I am anxious about the platform. There are radical differences of opinion among Democrats on the tariff question, but I think we can fix up a platform upon which all can stand. I do not care about any resolution formally approving the course of myself and other tariff reformers in the House. All I want is a tariff reform platform. I am not particular what words are used so that we get the substance. I want the Convention to say that the Government shall assess and [illegible] revenue to meet its ordinary expenses and pay its debt and not a [illegible] cent more.

Ratification in Virginia

The first Blaine and Logan ratification meeting in Virginia was held at Alexandria Thursday evening, July 3. A [illegible] stand, beautifully decorated, was erected next to the postoffice building. There was an enthusiastic crowd of nearly 2,500 [illegible] Senator Riddleberger [illegible] twenty minute speech [illegible] followed by Congressman Boutelle, Judge [illegible] Col. [illegible] Congressman [illegible] and Major S. P. Bailey. The music [illegible] under the direction of Mr. [illegible] [illegible] Burke and Major [illegible] There was a bright turn out of [illegible] who were enthusiastic and applauded [illegible] Blaine's [illegible]

The Madigan Circular

The editor of the [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] the present owners have had control of the printing and [illegible] whatever done under the roof with the Whig and the job office [illegible] the Whig building was [illegible] today entirely independent business [illegible] [illegible] Madigan circular [illegible] copies were brought from [illegible] [illegible] distributed. On September 11 1882 the Whig published the following paragraph:

[illegible]

Some of Mr. Madigan's Aroostook friends have been suspiciously prompt to rush in [illegible] with the [illegible] of a secret [illegible] Democrats [illegible] Mr. Madigan was [illegible] [illegible] Republicans [illegible] made by the Democrats seemed very suspicious and we were disposed to regard it as a Madawaska election [illegible] sympathy for Mr. Madigan [illegible] [illegible] have been following up the matter [illegible] We wonder if [illegible] protests were prepared at the same time.

The above [illegible] all we ever knew [illegible]

Quotations that Need Explaining

The [illegible] has been looking over the reports of the Hayes and Wheeler ratification speeches in Faneuil Hall in 1876. [illegible] Hon. E. Rockwood Hoar [illegible] Cincinnati, spoke of Mr. Blaine [illegible]

There was a great difference among the representatives of Massachusetts in their choice and preference. Mr. Blaine, whose friend I have been honored by calling myself for years, whose brilliant qualities and great services have attracted to him an ardent of regard among the Republicans of the country to which no other man has attained [Applause], received in that convention an enthusiastic, persistent and affectionate support, which must have been a comfort to him and will be the most precious treasure of his life.

Rev. James Freeman Clarke, another delegate to Cincinnati, was also one of the speakers on that occasion, and he was even more effusive in his praise of Mr. Blaine. This was the way that worthy gentleman, who now regards the man who supports Blaine as "riff raff," then felt about him:

I do not think that Mr. Blaine had a single personal enemy in the delegation. [illegible] [illegible] his great PAST SERVICE AND HIS CHIVALRIC [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

WE ALL HONORED [illegible] CHARACTER [illegible] sympathized with his [illegible] Massachusetts loves her daughter, the State of Maine.

Dr. Clarke is a man whose high character and fine sense of justice make it necessary to assume that he has some excellent reasons for regarding the man of whom he thus spoke on June 30, 1876—with all the evidence in the congressional investigation of Mr. Blaine and all the Mulligan letters before him,—as now unfit to be voted for except by "riff-raff." Nevertheless, the Republicans of Massachusetts, before they follow him into the Democratic camp, and vote against the man whose character as he himself said, eight years ago, "we all honored," will want the reverend gentleman to specify "just" what those reasons are. No doubt Dr. Clarke will hasten to state them clearly and fully.

The Executive Committee

of the Democratic National Committee held a brief meeting to-night. The session was occupied with a discussion of the distribution of tickets. The demand was largely in excess of the anticipations of the committee. The question of temporary chairmanship is being quietly discussed by members of the Executive Committee. Some of the delegates, especially those from the South, refuse to accept Tilden's letter of withdrawal as final and urge his nomination.

TO PHYSICIANS AND SUFFERERS

It is the intention of Dr. Souvielle to establish permanently an office in Bangor for the special treatment of all forms of throat and lung diseases. For the present, one of his surgeons will occupy rooms at the American House and can be consulted at all hours. Persons unable to call at the Hotel can be seen at their homes. If you are suffering from Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness, Laryngitis, Bronchitis, Asthma, Weak Lungs or Consumption, you should call and have your case attended to, before it is too late, for many useful lives have been lost which might have been saved had the proper remedies been employed in time. Dr. Souvielle and his surgeons are strictly specialists and use the latest appliances for treating diseases of the respiratory organs. CONGRESS.

The Closing Hours.

Senator Logan Disposes of a Slander.

An Adjournment Expected To-day.

Senate

WASHINGTON, July 5. Shortly after the Senate had been called to order, Mr. Logan rose and said:

Mr. President, I deem it due to my friends that I call attention to certain statements that I find copied in the public press as well as in the Congressional Record of the 27th of June. First, I am set down in a list of what is termed "land grabbers," as having in some mysterious way accumulated the vast amount of 80 000 acres of land.

This statement is utterly without foundation in fact. The New York Herald of the 29th of June, adds 10,000 head of cattle. I wish this were true, but there is no foundation for the statement. I would take no notice of this, however, were it not for the charge that follows. Second. The person who made the statement, after finding that it was untrue, instead of doing justice to one whom he might, by erroneous statements have done an injury, proceeded to put another false statement on record as follows: "I might have said to the deluded soldiers of this land, what do you think of a great Senator who, in his greed to absorb the territory which belongs to the actual settler, to a land that was made for independent freeholders and small farmers? What do you think of a man who poses as a statesman and a patriot, as the friend par excellence of the soldier, and who, under the cover of his brother-in-law, went to New Mexico and tried to preempt the most valuable land lying along her streams and was only estopped by the public officer finding that it belonged to another class which he professes the utmost friendship for, and who from his manner and appearance rumor says has Indian blood in his veins, trying to steal from his own kith and kin hundreds of thousands of acres of land, taking from the unfortunate savage who was unable to protect himself until our Secretary of the Interior went there with the surveyor and took back the land for the Zunis. Now, Mr. President, this statement is so far as I am concerned or any one else of whom I have any knowledge maliciously false.

Sir, what are the facts out of which this attack has been made? Captain Lawson, Major Tucker and Mr. Stout located claims at Nutria Springs in lands adjacent in New Mexico, not however, until after ascertaining from the general land office that the land was subject to location, being outside of the Indian reservation, lying some five miles from the Indian line, and some twenty-five or thirty miles from the town of Zuni—so it will be seen that the "hundreds of thousands of acres of land" that this man said was "stealing from the Indians" resolves itself into three homesteads or desert act claims located by two army officers and one citizen on public land open to such entry. With which I, [illegible] however, I had nothing to do.

Mr. Logan then read a letter from Commissioner McFarland, of the general land office, that the land referred to was subject to location and that it was public land at the time, and if not, that the location would have been subject to cancellation.

Mr. Logan also read a long letter from Major W. T. Tucker, U. S. army, addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, in which the writer complains that there is some disposition to interfere and change the location of the Zuni reservation, surveyed under an exclusive order of President Hayes, and concludes with the statement: "These entries in no wise affect the interests of the Indians, and we cannot see why the rights of the people should be disturbed merely to satisfy the wishes of some disappointed persons who did not get the land themselves, and now wish to put the Indians forward to do injury to others merely to gratify their own vindictive feelings."

Additional letters were presented by Mr. Logan, one from Capt. Lawson, of the 4th cavalry, dated May 19th 1884, saying: "There is not, nor has there been any company or organization for the purpose of buying or owning land, raising stock or starting a ranche on the Nutria [illegible] which you or any other person [illegible] was interested."

A letter was also read addressed to Senator Logan by [illegible], of the geological survey, which [illegible] investigated the question at the request of the Secretary of the Interior. The writer says, under date of June 30, 1884:

Having my attention called to statements in the Congressional Record indirectly charging you with fraud in intentionally attempting to deprive the Zuni Indians of New Mexico of lands, I beg to say that I am familiar with facts and circumstances from a thorough investigation of the subject made at the request of the Hon. the Secretary of the Interior and take pleasure in stating the allegations therein [illegible] grossly unjust to you, as well as to Major Tucker and his associates, and wholly without foundation.

The last letter read was as follows:

WASHINGTON, July 2, 1884.

HON. JOHN A. LOGAN:

DEAR SIR:—In reply to your verbal inquiries concerning the executive order of May 1, 1883, extending the Zuni reservation, allow me to say that the reservation of the Zuni Indians was established by an executive order dated March 16, 1877. The letter says: "This reported reservation lines excluded valuable spring water, which was investigated by Mr. Jas. Stevenson of the Geological Bureau, who after an examination, reports that the Indians on the reservation have made no use of the water of the spring, or occupied land here before or since. Included in the new lines of the reservation. The letter is signed by H. M. Teller, Secretary."

Mr. Logan in conclusion said: When Major Tucker and associates were attacked through a newspaper and charged with interfering with the rights of Indians and doing a great wrong I defended them through the public press and otherwise, and I now stand by what I did then.

On motion of Mr. Cullom the Senate took up the bill to establish a commission to regulate inter-state commerce. It provides for the appointment of a commission to consist of five commissioners at a salary of $7,500 each, who shall have supervision of all matters pertaining to the regulation of commerce between the States and the methods of operating railroad companies engaged in inter-state commerce. Sixty thousand dollars is appropriated for the purposes of the commission for its first year's operation. Mr. Cullom said that in the presentation of this bill there was no intention of oppressing the railroad companies. The State Commission for the regulation of railroads had operated to the advantage of the people and of the companies, so far as the powers of the commissioners extended, but as railroads had spread themselves all over the continent, a national commission was necessary to an adjustment of the interests of the whole people and the roads. It was his belief that a very considerable power should be given to the national commission to settle disputes in order to avoid too much litigation. This would be beneficial to both the people and the companies.

Mr. Allison presented a conference report on the legislative appropriation bill. The House agrees on everything except on three points, namely, those relating to the contingent fund of the Senate; second, the printing in the Congressional Record of speeches not delivered, and, third, the reduction of internal revenue collectors and customs collectors.

The Senate insisted on its amendments and appointed another Conference Committee.

On motion of Mr. Miller, of New York, the Inter-state commerce bill was then postponed until December next.

Mr. Logan submitted a report of the Conference Committee on the fortification bill to which the Senate agreed.

On motion of Mr. Blair the Senate proceeded to the consideration of the House bill to prohibit the importation of foreigners under contract, or agreement to perform labor in the United States. During the reading of the report on this bill the Senate went into executive session, and at 1 58 a recess was taken until 8 P. M.

Upon reassembling the executive session continued until [illegible] 30. A message from the House announced its dissent to the $250,000 amendment to the Diplomatic bill. The Senate insisted on its amendments and reappointed a conference committee.

Mr. Hoar announced that an agreement between the two Houses on the Electoral Count bill appeared improbable.

Mr. Allison submitted a conference report on the Legislative bill. The Senate insisted on its amendments and a conference committee was reappointed.

Consideration of the bill prohibiting the importation of foreign laborers was postponed until Dec. 21.

The Senate 12 30 A. M. took a recess of half an hour; at one o'clock business resumed. On motion of Mr. Manderson the committee on transportation routes to seaboard was increased in membership from 7 to 9 and authorized to sit during the recess of Congress for the purpose of gathering special information.

The Senate then took another recess to two o'clock.

When the Senate was again called to order, Mr. Allison submitted a conference report on the sundry civil bill. All differences were declared adjusted except those relating to new legislation providing for the compensation of U. S. Marshals and District Attorneys by salaries instead of fees. These the Senate insisted on. At 2 15 Mr. Allison submitted a conference report on the consular and diplomatic bill announcing the conference still unable to agree.

A bill increasing from $150,000 to $300,000 the amount appropriated for the erection of public buildings, etc., was read a third time, passed.

At 3 17 another recess of 15 minutes was taken.

House

Mr. Burns of Missouri, submitted a conference report on the consular and diplomatic bill. Of the 107 Senate amendments the Conference Committee has reached an agreement on all except three. Mr. Washburn moved a recession from the disagreement to two of the matters in dispute, which was agreed to, yeas 111, nays 70. This leaves one clause only as a point of difference. Messrs Burns, Townshend and Washburn were reappointed conferees and the House took a recess till [illegible] P. M.

The deadlock on the Mexican Pension bill continued at the evening session. Mr. Townshend at one time consented to lay the bill aside and was proceeding to make some remarks but the regular order was called for and he thereupon withdrew his consent.

At 12 15 Mr. Holman, of Indiana, submitted a conference report on the Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill. An agreement is reached on all points of difference except that increasing the appropriation for the Senate contingent fund. The Senate recedes from its amendment prohibiting the printing of undelivered speeches in the Record. Legislation reducing the number of internal revenue and customs collection districts is stricken from the bill. The bill as far as agreed to appropriates $21 126 321.

The conference report on the fortification appropriation bill was agreed to. It appropriates $700,000.

At 2 30 A. M. the House is again killing time on the Mexican bill, waiting a report on the sundry civil bill, the reading of which when it comes in will probably last until four o'clock.

Will Probably Adjourn To-day.

WASHINGTON, July 6. Both Houses held all night sessions and also continued their session to-day with brief recesses. It is expected the first session of the 48th Congress will close to-morrow. It has extended over a period of seven months and four days, although the actual working time will not exceed 165 days. In that time there have been introduced in the Senate 2 [illegible]7 bills and 97 joint resolutions and in the House 7 507 bills and 281 resolutions. Of these [illegible]3 Senate bills and 19 Senate resolutions became laws by Executive approval and 62 House bills and 32 House resolutions became laws in the same manner. Three House bills also became laws without action of the President and one was returned to the House.

BREWER VILLAGE.

Congregational Chapel Fair.

The Fair held in the new Congregational Chapel, Brewer Village, was liberally patronized and the receipts amounting to one hundred and thirty five dollars, will be used in completing the inside of the building. The chapel presented an inviting appearance, being tastily trimmed with cedar and cut flowers, while Japanese lanterns for illuminating purposes hung profusely about the building. The interior is a model of convenience. Upon two sides folding doors are so arranged that by opening them two additional rooms are merged into the audience room, making ample accommodation for a large company.

In one corner, separated by partitions, is a large and convenient kitchen. Booths were arranged in various parts of the chapel in charge of the following ladies: Fancy flowers, Julia Bristow; ice cream, Mary Smith; Boutonnieres, Mrs. Gertie Barstow; large guess doll, Annie Kerr; fancy quilt, Nettie Stanley; Gipsy tent, Mrs. D. A. Sargent, while numerous young ladies served at the refreshment tables, the general superintendence of the fair being under the direction of Mrs. H. P. Sargent. At 4 o'clock an exhibition fancy drill was given by sixteen young misses and misses and which was very pretty and the movements nicely executed, the boys with Zouave suits and blue turbans, the girls in white dresses with sashes and turbans of red, all being under the direction of W. I. Abbott. The baby show next in order was looked upon with much interest, the nine little ones all being "best looking," and each one being more "cunning" than the others, taxed the judgment of the committee, who finally decided that the first prize belonged to Mrs. Zuinglius C. Palmer's child. Here an alarm of fire was given and caused quite a commotion in the village, the promptness with which the ladder company responded would "eclipse" some of our older companies in larger places. Their services, however, were not needed. At five o'clock a salute was fired from the small cannon near the church. In the evening the fair was continued and a repetition of the fancy drill was given. The attendance was large, many being present from out of town. The Fair was a success and much credit is due to the ladies of the society for their untiring efforts and valuable services.

As Mrs. Philip H. Brown, with her two daughters, were riding into Portland, from Glen Cove, the horses took fright at the donkey engine on the Portland bridge, and ran into a pile of lumber, upsetting the carriage. One of the daughters was thrown some distance, but Mrs. Brown and the other daughter were thrown under the carriage. Fortunately the driver fell on his feet and keeping firm hold of the reins prevented the horses from running. The party all escaped with slight bruises.

Thursday morning, Arnie, a little five year old son of Mr. Martin Cary, of Portland, while fishing in the first sluiceway, at the Marginal way, fell into the water, and before he could be rescued by persons in that vicinity, was drowned. The body was recovered by parties in a boat, who were within call. When the body was recovered it was found that the fishing line was tied in a button hole, and it is conjectured that the sudden jerk of a fish at the hook caused the boy to lose his balance and fall into the water. Coroner Hall deemed an inquest unnecessary.

The fishing schooner Augusta E. Herrick, of Swan's Island, arrived at Mulgrave, N. S., June 24, with 250 barrels of large mackerel, which were taken June 23d, in Chedabucto Bay. She reports the fleet doing well.

The department was called out and the fire extinguished with small amount of damages, mostly by water. Cause of fire unknown. The loss is covered by insurance.

EXCURSION TO CASTINE. The Ralph Ross and barge Clifford took a large party to Castine last Friday. The grangers from Hampden and Winterport were landed at North Castine and the rest of the party landed at Castine, where they remained from one o'clock until four. On the return trip they reached this city at nine o'clock. It was a very pleasant excursion, and was enjoyed by all.

We were shown Saturday by Mr. J. C. Norton a very large lemon which was raised by Capt. J. C. W. Paine, formerly of this city, now a resident of San Diego, California. The lemon measured twelve and three-quarters inches in circumference one way and ten and one-half inches the other. It was raised on a tree of four years' setting, and was sent, as Capt. Paine expressed it, "to make Mr. Norton's lemonade on the Fourth," arriving here Friday morning.

CONSULAR APPOINTMENT. We note with pleasure that President Arthur has sent to the Senate the name of Leonard B. Smith, of Brewer, to be Consul at the Island of Curacoa. Captain Smith has resided on that Island for nearly eight years, and for three years has acted as Vice-Consul. This promotion is well merited, as Capt. Smith is thoroughly conversant with the Island and the duties of the position and we believe it will be heartily commended by our merchants and ship owners trading with that Island.

THE FOURTH IN BANGOR. There was no public observance of the day in this city except the ringing of the bells at sunrise, noon and sunset. The boys kept up a lively celebration through the previous night, however, and those whose rest was undisturbed must be classed as good sleepers. There were many excursion parties out of town in different directions, while the principal attraction was at Maplewood Park. Flags were displayed from public and private buildings and from the shipping in the harbor. The Italian bark Andrea Lo Vico honored the day by a most profuse display of colors and signals, attracting much attention. Very fortunately we heard of no accidents to chronicle.

A young man from Mattawamkeag retired late to his room at the Bangor House, on Friday night, and failed to fully shut off the gas. In the morning he was nearly asphyxiated—faint, sick, and vomiting. The clerk on arousing him, told him that all that saved him was the transom being open over the door.

ALMOST AN ACCIDENT. Fourth of July morning a young man had a narrow escape from injury or death by the careless loading of the gun, an old army musket, with which he was celebrating. Thinking to do something smart he put a torpedo in his gun, then put in the powder and commenced to ram it down. The torpedo exploded, setting fire to the charge and blowing out the iron ramrod, which struck the stone trimmings of a store, breaking and twisting the rod, and throwing the gun into the street, bending the barrel. It was a narrow escape, and he will not try to repeat the experiment.

REPUBLICAN FLAG RAISING AT LAGRANGE. A correspondent writes: Notwithstanding the heat of the weather, the severity of the drouth and the unfavorable outlook generally, the Republicans of Lagrange are wide awake and full of enthusiasm. When on the morning of the Fourth the stars and stripes were unfolded to the breeze it would seem as if no more fitting tribute could be paid to the day of our Nation's birth, but when the names of Blaine and Logan, Robie and Boutelle were discovered in connection with the grand old flag, the whole town seemed to be alive to the coming issue. The spirit of the people showed itself by round upon round of enthusiastic cheers for the stars and stripes, the Republican cause and for Maine's illustrious son.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE ESSEX STREET CHURCH yesterday was an occasion of much interest. The floral decorations were profuse and artistic, reflecting much credit upon the designers. Rev. Mr. Howard preached a sermon to the children from 1st Samuel, 16 7, "Man seeth the outward appearance but God looketh upon the heart." In the evening a very interesting concert was given and as the little ones mounted the platform, one by one, and stood in the midst of the flowers in front of a large cross and under the arch, festoons and bell, to speak their pieces, the picture was one of exceeding loveliness. Miss Hunt presided at the piano, and the whole was under the supervision of Mr. O. S. Sands, the Superintendent.

REFORM CLUB MEETING. There was a fair sized audience in City Hall Sunday afternoon at the Reformers' meeting. Vice-President Selden Dean conducted the services. Mrs. Pickard of the Crusade read the Scriptures, Chaplin Frost offered prayer. The President in his opening remarks, said it was pleasing to see so many present on this warm day. He was followed by Brothers Hanover, Doren and Matheson of the club and Mrs. Crussman of the Crusade, all urging the necessity of active work for the cause of Temperance at the present time. The pledge was presented by Bro. Richardson in an able manner. The music was as usual very fine, the following selections being rendered: "Don't forget your pledge Brother," "Hark for gentle Voices," Solos by Mr. Haynes, "The Ninety and Nine."

GRANGE EXCURSION AND PICNIC. The members of Northern Light and Sunrise Granges were entertained at Verona camp ground on the Fourth by Verona Grange. The first named Granges went down from Hampden and Winterport on the barge Clifford, landing at North Castine. Here they were transported to the camp ground, where they had a picnic dinner, after which speeches were made by Worthy State Lecturer D. H. Thing of Mt Vernon, Worthy Master E. H. Gregory of Penobscot County Grange, and Richard Nutter of Dexter. Worthy Master Norton of Hancock County Grange presided. There was a large attendance, the speeches received good attention, and the members of the up-river Granges speak in highest terms of the kindness and hospitality of Verona Grange.

OLDTOWN NOTES. Our correspondent writes: Dea. Wellman Bosworth was the first man to throw out to the breeze a Blaine and Logan flag. The Commercial says the flag is over the shop where coffins and caskets are for sale and it looks ominous for Blaine and Logan. The Deacon says the flag is for Blaine and Logan, and the coffins and caskets are for expiring Democrats, for whom he expects to furnish a large number between this and November. The second flag was raised by I. Weymouth, Esq., upon whose folding folds are the names of Blaine and Logan. ——The late Dr. Folsom was a member of the order of A. O. U. W., and I am informed by the treasurer that his insurance of two thousand dollars was, within thirty days, paid to the surviving widow. [illegible] commendable case of promptness and worthy of notice.

THE FOURTH AT GARLAND—LIGHTNING'S WORK. Our correspondent writes: The Fourth of July was celebrated in Garland in the early morning by the firing of guns and blowing of horns. At seven A. M., the horribles in large force came out and were joined by a small squad from Exeter, and they made quite a sensation in this quiet town. The music for the occasion was by the Garland drum corps, assisted by all kinds of musical and unmusical instruments. At ten a barrel [illegible] on the pond, where the barrel proved a hard thing to ride. At eleven a wheelbarrow race, which was won by Eugene French, followed by a picnic at Silver's Grove, boating on the pond and a good time generally. ——Last Tuesday morning at about three o'clock a shower passed over the west part of the town, and the lightning struck Albert Gordon's house giving some of the inmates quite a shock, but doing little damage. In the afternoon a heavy shower passed over Garland village and the lightning struck John S. Fogg's barn, splintering the boarding, also trees in the vicinity, but did not do great damage.

TEMPERANCE SCHOOL. At a meeting of the Union Band of Hope yesterday afternoon, at Stetson's Hall, all were agreeably surprised at meeting so large a school, numbering 107, carried on on the same principle as a Sunday-school, with library books, papers, pledge cards and roll pledges. They use the triple pledge. Mrs. Lane, their president, gave out twelve pretty fringed cards with mottos, suited to their work, as rewards. This school was instituted June 1st, and bids fair to be one of the largest temperance schools in the State. God speed them in their noble work. After the lesson, every session, they have a short entertainment. Yesterday it consisted of singing by the school; solo by Miss Hodgdon, "Lilies of the Field"; a recitation by Lilly Martin, "Water Legion"; by Bertha Baker, "What a Pity"; dialogue, Marion Curtis and Eddie Leavitt, "Harmless Cider"; by Lula Morgan, "A Four Year Old"; by Maud Morgan, "A Little Pledge for a Little Girl," and a good, earnest, practical talk by the Rev. Mr. [illegible]. The school closed by singing, to the tune of "Hold the Fort," [illegible].

A FINE EXCURSION TRIP. The New England and Acadia Steamship Company are offering round trip tickets to Eastport, Annapolis and Halifax and return at very low rates, as will be seen by advertisement this morning. The excursionists can leave this city from the Maine Central depot, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. This is a most delightful excursion and should be taken advantage of by many.

S. OF V. EXCURSION. The Sons of Veterans went on their annual excursion down river July 4th. At a quarter of eight the steamer Queen City was headed down the river with a large and merry party aboard. A short stop was made at Fort Point and then they proceeded to Ryder's Cove, Islesboro, arriving there about eleven o'clock. The party then divided into small parties and each went their way to some shady spot to eat a hearty dinner. After dinner those who wished were invited into the parlor of the hotel where a nice dance was indulged in. Meantime those out of doors were having an exciting game of foot ball. Then came the foot races, the first between Pottle and Mitchell—one hundred yards dash—was won by Pottle by about fifteen feet; the second by Kelleher and Waldron—one hundred yards dash—was a very closely contested race and was won by Waldron. Next in turn came a game of base ball between the Parker & Penkes nine and a Sons of Veterans nine, resulting in a score of 16 to 0 in favor of the Parker & Penkes nine. The game was very exciting and the success of the game was due to the magnificent pitching and catching of Mitchell and Reynolds of the S. of V. club. Everybody seemed satisfied with the success of the S. of V. excursion and sounded their praises in behalf of Captain Barbour who did what he could to have all enjoy themselves.

THE MASSACHUSETTS PRESS ASSOCIATION. The Massachusetts Press Association, numbering with ladies and invited guests, one hundred and ten, passed through this city Saturday evening, enroute for Bar Harbor, on their fifteenth annual excursion. The pressure upon our columns precludes our publishing the list of names. The officers of the Association are Francis Proctor, Cape Ann Advertiser, President; W. S. Loomis, Holyoke Transcript; W. W. Waugh, Boston Home Journal; C. H. Fiske, Palmer Journal; Mark Allen, Woburn Advertiser; R. W. Waterman, Athol Chronicle, Vice Presidents; James Cox, Cambridge Press, Recording Secretary; George M. Whitaker, Southbridge Journal, Corresponding Secretary; Joshua T. Smith, Rockland Standard, Treasurer; George E. Newhall, Lynn Transcript, Historian and Biographer; Z. E. Stone, Lowell Mail, Auditor. At Augusta the party left the cars to shake hands with Mr. Blaine, who was upon the platform, and gave him three cheers upon leaving. We were told by several gentlemen of the party that we must not think that there is no Blaine sentiment in Massachusetts as would be inferred from some of the Boston papers, but on the contrary the sentiment in his favor is strong and growing stronger daily, and that in November the old Bay State will roll up a handsome majority for Blaine and Logan. The party will pass through here on their return home Wednesday morning. We were pleased to meet many old friends in the party, which is under the able charge of that genial fellow, Ed. Sands, of the Eastern Railroad.

A "Sea Breeze" From Northport

NORTHPORT, July 4, 1884.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

This is a glorious day at the seaside, and the early comers along the shores of the Penobscot are fortunate in their choice of season for their vacation. As I write this from the veranda of Clear View cottage on South Shore, at noon, a refreshing breeze comes in from the old ocean which is perfectly delicious to the system and senses, especially as I look across the bay inland where the smoky haze hangs like a veil over the country where I can readily imagine the mercury up along the 80s, and sweltering humanity trying to celebrate.

It is an early season. The dwellers in cottages have been coming by ones, twos and trios this week. A larger delegation will arrive to-morrow, and during next week so-called life at Northport will be fairly entered upon for the season of 1884.

The indications are favorable for a long and successful season. The Waverly House is open and already for guests, several permanent boarders being already here. It is again under the management of C. H. Buswell, with good assistants.

The usual repairing, painting, enlarging and improving cottages, etc., is going on. L. P. Walker, of Vinalhaven, is building a fine cottage on Main street. It is nearly finished and will be one of the best and prettiest here.

The Boston steamers touch at the wharf regularly. Telephone connection with the hotel, both up and down river will be made at once. The livery stable, store and post office will open next week, and all the requirements for the season will be in operation.

The new road along the shore which will connect the grounds with the new camp-ground, Temple Heights, several miles down shore, is being built. It follows along shore around the foot of the "bluff", a distance of some four miles, and opens up a fine lot of cottage sites. Temple Heights is growing fast, several cottages being started, a park laid out, streets built, a fine permanent wharf constructed, etc. Their campmeeting this year will probably be held the week prior to the Methodist which is to be the last full week in August.

Vol. 6 of the Sea Breeze, Northport's seaside season paper will be published as usual, by Brackett & Co., of Belfast, the first number being issued near the 20th of this month. It will be the same size, style and price of last season, printed on heavy paper and illustrated, making it compare favorably with the best vacation journals.

Quite a number of up-river families are here already and more are expected by Ross & Howell's steamer, which makes her first regular trip from Bangor, Saturday evening. All are cordially invited. There is room, pure air, shade, and salt odors enough and to spare.

Yours truly, S. B.

MAPLEWOOD PARK SPORTS.

How the Fourth was Enjoyed.

A Large Gathering Witnesses Some Fine Sport.

Gray Dan, Rapedus and Golden Maxim again Winners—Gazelle Comes to the Front—Fantastics—Greased Pig—Potato Race—Tight Rope Walking—Foot Racing—Base Ball—Trotting and Running Races

The sports at Maplewood Park were continued July 4th as previously announced. The principal interest centering on the trotting matches, which were to come off in the afternoon but a small attendance was present in the forenoon to witness the other sports.

THE FANTASTICS

The first of these to come off was the fantastics. Owing in part to extreme modesty on the part of the young men of Bangor, who while always ready to take part in a Fourth of July parade of fantastics, and exhibiting therein much taste and humor, were averse to entering for a purse, and for other causes the number who appeared on the track was but small, yet a good deal of originality was displayed in their make up. The prize was awarded to the "Horn Family."

CATCHING THE GREASED PIG

The greased pig was next let loose and a large number entered into the contest for catching the slippery porkling and also the five dollar gold piece which awaited the captor. James R. Fickett was the lucky man. No one undertook the task of climbing the greased pole.

THE POTATO RACE.

The next sport was the potato race, in which twenty-five potatoes were placed in a row at a distance of two feet apart to be picked up singly and deposited in a box. There were sixteen contestants for the golden half eagle offered to the one who should accomplish the feat the quickest. The sixteen were divided into four teams and four parallel rows of potatoes were laid down and the work of picking them up caused much amusement.

The names of the winners in the respective teams, and the time required, are: John Silk, 2 37; John Connelly, 2 20½; Tommy Glynn, 2 31; Jerry Bratts, 2 30½; and John Connelly captured the coin. A gratuity of twenty five cents was given to each of the other contestants.

WALKING THE TIGHT ROPE

The tight-rope walk came next, a rope having been strung from the Judges' Stand to the Grand Stand, a distance of about seventy feet between the supports, and some twenty odd feet from the ground, a prize of $5 being offered to the one who would best accomplish the feat of walking out fifty feet, turning around and walking back. Canvass was spread beneath the rope to guard a fall. There were four entries for the feat. James Norwood made his appearance from the Judges' Stand and, with a balance pole, performed the feat of walking across in a handsome manner, in spite of the fact that the rope, being a new one, stretched under his weight, so that it made the ascent at the opposite end very steep. He then started on his return, walking backwards and accomplished the feat successfully, amid the plaudits of the crowd. None of the others who had entered made the attempt. In the afternoon, however, Charles Ulrich walked once across without returning to the other side. Norwood is but an amateur, having done all his walking for his own amusement, and has not walked before, as he says, for twelve years.

THE FOOT RACE

A foot race for half a mile, once around the course, was then announced, a prize of $5 00 being offered to the successful competitor. There were eight entries, as follows: B. J. Reardon, Mike Cavanagh, Henry Jordan, Charles Smith, James Dowling, Charles Gilsey and James Campbell.

There was a lively start and an exciting race, but some fell by the wayside, others struggled hard for the lead, while James Campbell passed under the wire, winning handsomely, in 2 minutes 36 seconds.

BASE BALL MATCH

A game of base ball came off next, between the Resolutes and the Maplewoods, two amateur clubs of Bangor, and was well played, resulting in a victory for the Resolutes by 9 to 6.

THE RACES

After dinner Main street presented a lively scene, with the crowd of people hurrying in the direction of the Park. Hacks, coaches, barges, buckboards and everything which could carry a passenger and pick up a ten-cent piece seemed to be out and for awhile was kept busy in transporting the throng.

Much interest was felt in the races as each of the winners of Friday was to appear on the track and the horses entered were so nearly matched that no one could be expected to have a walk over, and in this the audience was not disappointed. The trots and the running race were among the most interesting ever witnessed here and everything passed off to the satisfaction of all.

F. O. Beal, of this city, and Messrs. W. T. Jewett and S. L. Golding, of St. John, officiated most acceptably as judges, and the very few periods of waiting which occurred were not attributable to them. At the scoring for the third heat in the 2 31 class, Gray Nose cast a shoe, and the race was delayed until it could be reset.

TWO THIRTY-EIGHT CLASS

There were five entries and three starters, Don and St. Jacobs not appearing. [In this connection we would state that our report of Thursday's races, that Don was distanced in the 2.35 class, was an error, as he was drawn on account of being out of condition, and for the same reason did not appear on Friday.]

This race was one of great interest, and Gazelle, although winning in three straight heats, had to be up and doing to accomplish it, as she was hard pushed by Jersey Lily, and on the last heat Mischief narrowly missed winning the heat. The three heats were very nearly alike, except the close of the third, when Mischief made a dash on the home stretch for the first place, and came in second, as the Lily started slightly in the lead each time, but was soon overtaken and passed by Gazelle, with Mischief pressing close behind.

RUNNING RACE.

The running race, which took the place of the hurdle race announced, was, like the one of the day before, one of great interest, and was hotly contested, both horses being sent for all they were worth, the first heat being won by Patience and the last two and the race, by Golden Maxim, but the horses ran so closely together that the victory could by no means be claimed as an easy one.

[illegible]he Hands of a Mob

If there be anywhere a typical American, he will be found on the Western [illegible], where men develop into something which certainly has not its likeness in the heavens above, the earth beneath, or the waters under the earth. [illegible] most peace[illegible] he expect [illegible] as a "trough," [illegible] is unapproachable. Nothing in history [illegible] ever equaled a Western desperado, bold, cruel, [illegible], hardened, sentimental, skilled in the use of arms, and accomplished in horsemanship, there is about him a terrible power which lacks not the elements of fascination. Mark Twain, in "[illegible]," has drawn admirable portraits of [illegible] notorious in the early days of Western settlements. It was my fortune, as a child, to have a certain knowledge of this class, and to encounter them, once at least, in their [illegible].

My father was a sea-captain, who took his family with him on his long voyages. [illegible] trade with California, it is well known, was a golden one for many years, and no one could take a share in it readily [illegible] the months of sailing and the dangers of Cape Horn. To those who [illegible] cross the continent in a week's time, this length of voyage doubtless appears an [illegible] of suspended action. To it was simply a calm Elysium. The [illegible] days and nights dropped silently behind us into the beautiful, fathomless sea, while we set out [illegible] steadily forward to [illegible] unconcerned [illegible] anticipation. [illegible] was but a child, with one constant companion in my little sister, and an occasional [illegible] with Johnny Carter, the cabin-boy. Johnny Carter belongs to this story. He was a pretty, fair little fellow of about twelve years. Just before the ship sailed a very nice-looking woman had come on board and asked to see my father. She brought with her this boy, and she represented him as anything rather than

> A creature [illegible] bright and good,
> For human nature's daily food.

In short, Johnny was so utterly a bad boy, that she begged my father to take him to sea, in the hope of breaking off his associations and changing the current of his future from an eager search after the [illegible] of his [illegible]. My father hesitated, of course, for the mother was [illegible], and the boy did not look formidable. In the end, he consented, and Johnny was duly installed as cabin-boy [illegible].

I do not remember ever seeing him at work. He proved to be, as far as we saw, a mild, pleasant, easy-going little chap, very unlike his mother's portrayal of him, and was soon a universal favorite. He was so young and so small it seemed folly to expect anything thoroughly useful of him. He wandered about the ship, gathering up whatever came in his way, waiting on the officers, helping the cook, taking care of the goats, [illegible] sent [illegible] playmates, and with an eye to [illegible] for my mother's coffee, [illegible] sometimes for a whole day [illegible] with us at anything we fancied. He could dress a [illegible] and set out toy dishes; he could make [illegible] kites and fish-bows and arrows; he could arrange a scrap-book or set up fishing-tackle, and he seemed equally happy [illegible] content in [illegible]. Yet when we reached San Francisco he almost [illegible] disappeared, [illegible].

My father was [illegible]. The [illegible] the good [illegible] of the [illegible] my father, were [illegible] present to him, and Johnny [illegible], he could [illegible] have been more profoundly swallowed [illegible]. At last my father accepted the situation as best he might, and after writing a full account of all that had been, [illegible] the matter from his mind as one in which he had performed his duty in spite of failure.

[illegible] was [illegible] enough. It is impossible to convey to a thoroughly [illegible] any conception of that [illegible] curious admixture of [illegible] and [illegible], of [illegible] and [illegible], [illegible] and going. [illegible] representatives [illegible] style of costume, [illegible] of polish and [illegible] of society, [illegible] both of [illegible], and the [illegible] the stately Spaniard, the indolent [illegible] American, the [illegible] continually [illegible] along the narrow stretch of Long Wharf, [illegible] its waters. [illegible] children even fewer. My sister and [illegible] soon grew [illegible] and the domestic [illegible] of the ship, under my mother's home [illegible], had charm for the homeless young fellows [illegible] in the tremendous struggle for existence or mighty wealth. The [illegible] of the other.

Occasionally my father took me with [illegible] for a morning among his business friends, and very delightful I found these [illegible]. It was after one of these we found Johnny Carter. We were walking along [illegible] to take the boat for our return to the ship. The quay was lined on the [illegible] side with gambling dens—great [illegible], entirely open to the street. At the [illegible] end, a rough stage [illegible] into prominence sometimes a row of [illegible] in [illegible], sometimes three or four painted [illegible], sometimes a [illegible] and [illegible] civilian.

Between this stage and the street, row after row of tables were set out, crowded with men dressed in red shirts, broad [illegible] hats, broad belts, and a perfect armory of weapons. Oaths and blows and [illegible] were as common as the twang of [illegible] or the voice of [illegible] singer, and [illegible] father always hurried me along, trembling as I was, striving to distract my attention from the sights and sounds [illegible] with horror.

On this day of which I write, he suddenly paused before one of the dens, and then deliberately walked into its very midst, still holding my hand. At a table near the center of the room, he laid his hand on the shoulder of Johnny Carter, who was intently watching the deft fingers of a [illegible] gamblers. Piles of gold-dust, [illegible] pieces, and lumps of quartz [illegible] heaped upon the table, and vouched their recent arrival from the outskirts of civilization.

With a wild cry the little wretch wrenched himself from my father's grasp, and threw himself into the midst of the crowd, [illegible] for protection.

In one instant all was confusion. The [illegible] sprang up from their games on all sides, leaving their gold as readily and as carelessly as though no thought depended on the turn of a card than in a mere game for the love of it. They crowded close around [illegible] great, bearded, swarthy, terrible fellows, who seemed never to have been born of woman. Johnny, pouring out shrill [illegible] very well made up of terror and [illegible], told a pitiful tale. He had been beaten and kicked and starved and thrown overboard and towed; he had been worked night and day; he was afraid of his life. [illegible] save him! Only keep him away from the dreadful ship!

The crowd roared a fearful oath that [illegible] would stand by him and then turned [illegible] oaths to fearful threats against my father. He stood like a rock, and, silent, scarcely terrified, but terribly excited, I clung to his side. The dreadful faces [illegible] nearer, the cruel knives began to gleam in sharp curves and flourishes, the unmistakable "click" of fire-arms sounded [illegible] all sides. A woman's voice screamed from the stage—

"Oh, the leetle chile! Take care the [illegible] chile!"

Some of the gruff voices near us took up the cry. My father did not raise me to his breast, as he easily might have done, and thus have screened himself, but he drew his arm around me, and slowly and steadily made his way to the door. He was a man of splendid presence, and that always "tells," more or less. Tall, finely formed, with the step, the carriage of the [illegible], the glance of the eye, of those born to command, he passed through their midst undaunted. There was no air of reckless bravado about him. He was simply ready for anything, fearing not what man could do unto him, and they felt it.

Crowding us, yet making way for us, threatening him with eye and voice and death-dealing hand, yet only threatening, we passed through them to the street. They went with us, and the very air of heaven seemed to give them new wrath. Brawny arms were stretched to snatch me from him; but I had heard the woman's voice and the man's words, and I knew well I was his protection. I clung the closer, and I knew I gave back from my baby eyes the proud scorn of my father's spirit. One of them swore a hoarse oath that I was "a plucky little devil," and then they cheered me and cursed my father. Still he went on and gave no sign. It was but a few steps to the Long Wharf and the waiting boat. There was a sudden sway of the crowd. I saw through a gap the blue waters of the bay, and, close at hand, the well-known, dark-blue flag, white-crossed and red-centered, which was our ship's ensign. The next instant familiar faces rose about us, the young merchants from the offices we had recently left pushed their way to us, and cheery voices cried out:

"[illegible], captain! We'll stand by you! The Committee's out!"

The mob gave a wild roar, and surged in frenzy. My father spoke for the first time:

"[illegible], my girl! These devils [illegible] not hold me long. I will never [illegible] from them!"

The next instant I was in the boat, and saw my father spring into full view of the crowd, and in bold relief against the cloudless sky, upon a pile of merchandise. "My lads!" he called, in a voice trained to surmount the storms of the deep, "my lads! I am an unarmed man. You are a hundred to one! Shoot, if you will, but give me a chance to speak!"

It was so brave a defiance they were impressed by it, easily swayed as they were in the reckless disregard of time or life or pain, which their self-outlawed existence had engendered. They were suddenly hushed and quieted.

"Go it, old chap!" called out a shrill, youthful voice. There was a growl of assent from coarser tones. My father took advantage of the permission. He made a speech worthy of the occasion. A man with truth to back him might well speak as one inspired. Fancy such a death! He told the story of Johnny Carter from his mother's side. He spoke of his interest in him on her account, of the search for him, of the future from which he sought to hold him back—"A future you know, my lads, better than I can tell it." He referred them to his own record as a shipmaster, and called on his boat's crew to witness its truth. In short the tide of wrath was stemmed. Hoarse murmurs of assent greeted his closing questions as to the wisdom and justice of his conduct toward the boy.

Rough [illegible] judgments of hasty action on their part rolled forth, and finally cries of "Bring out the youngster and send him aboard!" "Tie him up, captain, and [illegible] the [illegible] out of him!" "His mother's well rid of him anyhow!" gave proof that Johnny, like many of his betters, was experiencing the fickle change of the people's fickle favor. But Johnny had wisdom beyond his years. He had waited for no favorable or unfavorable ending. He was gone, and heaven alone knows where. From that day until this we have never heard of Johnny Carter, "[illegible]" as he is in the retrospect of my years.

My father stood upon his improvised stage, the triumphant star of this brief play. The men were crowding around him in good-fellowship as hilarious as their wrath had been. One of the young merchants added a jolly speech. More of his friends gathered around him (the Vigilance Committee on duty), the boat rocked idly a few yards from the wharf, the sun streamed brilliantly upon the lovely curving shores, upon the opposite portal of the majestic "Golden Gate," upon the crowd of shipping, upon our own trim, perfectly floating home. The dark hour had passed like a bad dream.

"Thank you, my men!" cried my father. "You have given me fair play, like honest fellows. The first time any of you need [illegible] trouble, I wish you good luck, and well out of it!"

"We know a man when we see him, captain!" shouted the same shrill voice I had heard once before.

"That's so!" roared another. "Three cheers for a brave man!"

They gave them with a will. My father had taken his place in the boat, which had drawn in at a sign from him, and had sprung into his place at last by the stern upon the [illegible].

"Three cheers for his own gal!" shouted the ever-ready speaker.

And three cheers they were, indeed. My father loosed his hold on me to wave his cap in answer. I looked up through my tears. I see it now! the sparkling sea, the glowing sky, the long, rugged, [illegible] causeway above the blue water, and the dense mass of scarlet shirts, the gleaming weapons, the fierce, wild faces [illegible] even in their kindness [illegible] that day until this I tremble at the sound of many feet, the wordless murmur of many voices, the very faintest thought of a riot.—Lippincott's Magazine.

FOR EVERY FORM OF

SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASE

FROM

Pimples to Scrofula.

THOUSANDS OF LETTERS in our possession repeat this story: I have been a terrible sufferer for years with Blood and Skin Humors; have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors; have had the best physicians; have spent hundreds of dollars and got no real relief until I used the Cuticura Resolvent, the new Blood Purifier, internally, and Cuticura and Cuticura Soap, the Great Skin Cures and Skin Beautifiers, externally, which have cured me and left my skin and blood as pure as a child's.

Almost Incredible.

James E. Richardson, Custom House, New Orleans, on oath, says: In 1870 Scrofulous Ulcers broke out on my body until I was a mass of corruption. Everything known to the medical faculty was tried in vain. I became a mere wreck. At times could not lift my hands to my head, could not turn in bed; was in constant pain, and looked upon life as a curse. No relief or cure in ten years. In 1880 I heard of the Cuticura Remedies, used them, and was perfectly cured.

Sworn to before U. S. Com. J. D. Crawford.

Still More So.

Will McDonald, 2542 Dearborn Street, Chicago, gratefully acknowledges a cure of Eczema, or Salt Rheum, on head, neck, face, arms and legs for seventeen years; not able to move, except on hands and knees, for one year; not able to help himself for eight years; tried hundreds of remedies; doctors pronounced his case hopeless. Permanently cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

More Wonderful Yet.

H. E. Carpenter, Henderson, N. Y., cured of Psoriasis or Leprosy, of twenty years' standing, by Cuticura Remedies. The most wonderful cure on record. A dustpanful of scales fell from him daily. Physicians and his friends thought he must die. Cure sworn to before a justice of the Peace and Henderson's most prominent citizens.

Don't Wait.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY. An unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Impotency, and all Diseases that follow as a sequence of Self-Abuse; as loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, pain in the back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to Insanity or Consumption and a Premature Grave.

BEWARE of advertisements to refund money, when druggists from whom the medicine is bought do not refund, but refer you to the manufacturers, and the requirements are such that they are seldom, if ever, complied with. See their written guarantee. A trial of one single package of Gray's Specific will convince the most skeptical of its real merits.

In account of counterfeits we have adopted the Yellow Wrapper, the only genuine.

☞ Full particulars in our pamphlet, which we desire to send free by mail to every one. ☞ The Specific Medicine is sold by all druggists at $1 per package, or six packages for $5, or will be sent free by mail on receipt of the money, by addressing

THE GRAY MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, New York.

Sold in Bangor by CALDWELL, SWEET & BROS., East Side Drug Store and No. 3 Main Street. [illegible] d&wly[illegible]
